

VEOTES LIKELY FOR ANTI-SEDITION BILLS

Statewide Opposition to Measures Voiced at Hearing Before Governor.

SPONSORS REMAIN AWAY

Measures Condemned as Establishing Censorship of Schools and Political Parties.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, May 14.—New York State spoke unanimously today in condemnation of the Lusk and Pearson anti-socialist and anti-sedition bills, which were before Gov. Smith for public hearing. The opposition to the several measures outlawing the political party and setting up a State censorship of loyalty overwhelmed the advocates of the "inquisition laws."

Labor, churches, the bar associations, political organizations and scores of civic associations lined up with the Socialist party and its leaders in denouncing the proposals as tyrannical and repressive. Not in years has there been such united and wholesale denunciation of bills pending in the Legislature.

Those who appeared in defense of the bills were lawyers who acted for the Lusk committee and the Assembly in the trial of the Socialist Assemblymen and Henry A. Wise Wood of Manhattan. Prior to the hearing several telegrams were received by the Governor approving phases of the proposed laws.

Veto of most if not all the measures is expected at the hand of the Governor.

He said to-night, after listening to arguments for five hours, that he would not take action until the end of next week. The Governor indicated his attitude toward the bills requiring the licensing of schools by the Regents and compelling teachers to take an oath to uphold the Constitution.

Law Is Not Enforceable.

"There is not money enough appropriated to the Department of Education to carry out these provisions," the Governor said to Samuel Berger, counsel for the Lusk Committee, when the latter said the Regents could investigate to make teachers live up to their oath.

"It took all of one session to handle the cases of five Assemblymen who had taken the oath, how much action would it require to handle 65,000 teachers?" the Governor asked.

Arguing in favor of the bills, Mr. Wood read startling statements from a book entitled "Love in Marriage." He said it was purchased at the Rand School by a 15-year-old boy.

The Governor was amazed when he scanned some of the paragraphs and asked why the District Attorney had not been called on to take action. Mr. Berger said the book was referred to Mr. Egan several months ago and nothing had been done. The Governor said he would take it up at once with the District Attorney.

There were eight bills before the Governor, six from the Lusk committee and two growing out of the Socialist trial. Opposition was directed mainly at the measures proposing to establish a secret service in the Attorney General's office, giving the Regents power of licensing schools and systems of education, giving the Appellate Division the power of determining the fitness of a political organization as a party and of its candidates to hold office, and prescribing the loyalty test for teachers. Three bills to which there was no objection provide Americanization classes for the foreign born and for the instruction of teachers.

Stylish System of Prussianism.

Louis Marshall headed the opposition. He and those who followed him asserted the bills were designed to outlaw the Socialist party, to throw Socialists out of office without trial and to eliminate the Rand School.

"These bills hit at the foundation of our Government," Mr. Marshall said. "They find no parallel in history since the seventeenth century. Shall New York be put into such a straitjacket? Shall we set up here in this day and age another Spanish Inquisition? Shall we be ruled by the star chamber? In a moment of hysteria shall we forget all we stand for and adopt a system of Prussianism which we believed we had destroyed forever?"

Nelson S. Spencer, president of the City Club, condemned the measures, as did Edward C. Rybeck, spokesman of the Central Federated Union, and Mrs. Mary E. Simkhovitch, speaking for the United Neighborhood Homes and Greenwich House.

Representing four big unions of railway employees, William E. Fitzsimmons of Albany announced his opposition to the Lusk and Pearson bills. "We thought we were through with Government through whispering, but these bills would restore it," the speaker said.

Charles E. Knowles of Buffalo expressed opposition, as did the Rev. Charles E. Gilbert of New York. Mrs. William G. Rockwell, appearing for the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, said 400 varieties of classes in that institution would be killed or reduced to stupid routine.

"We are against the Socialist party, have no use for it, but we are against the bill that hits at the party," James P. Holland, president of the State Federation of Labor, said.

Algeron Lee said he spoke for the Socialist Party and the Rand School. Framers of the bill aimed at the Rand School have admitted they knew such a law would be held unconstitutional and believed it would hold until that institution was ruined, he asserted.

Fathers of Bills Absent.

Governor Smith was surprised to find that Senator Lusk, Assemblyman Pearson and Speaker Sweet were absent.

"It is a matter of courtesy to call upon the introducers if they are present," said the Governor.

"These Pearson bills," said Martin Conboy, of counsel for the Assembly in the Socialist trial, "merely carry out the law which requires the taking of the oath of office to uphold the Constitution of the State and nation. They only say that you cannot elect to office the members of a party which by its acts makes it impossible to live up to an oath to support the Government. How there is any repugnance to them I fail to understand. How there can be objection to them by loyal men and women is utterly incomprehensible to me."

"The wild cry of 'boy yesterday' over the nomination of Debs, a convict felon, as the Socialist candidate for President," said State Senator Elton R. Brown, "identifies the Socialist Party as no words can identify it. It shows just what they mean."

Mr. Brown said the Rand School was rotten and that the law giving the Regents the power to license schools was needed to wipe such institutions out of existence.

"If you are aiming at the Socialist party why didn't you have the courage to say so in the bills?" Mr. Marshall asked. "Why do you pass the buck to the Appellate Division and make the judges go through a mess to cover every political party or organization? If the

DEMOCRATS AGAINST UNIT RULE ORGANIZE

Plan to Hold Mass Meeting of Protest Here on May 26.

Special to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, May 14.—Federal Democrats who are opposed to Tammany domination in the New York delegation to the National Convention in June are organizing an independent protest as a basis for appealing to the party at the San Francisco convention to set aside the unit rule in voting for candidates for President.

Keeping up their fight, which proved so ineffective in the Albany conference of the delegates last week, Mayor La Guardia, Samuel Seabury and a few other insurgents are circulating a petition calling for a mass meeting of protest to be held in Carnegie Hall on May 26.

William J. Bryan is said to have lent influence to the movement and probably will be the principal speaker at the Carnegie Hall meeting. The purpose is to vote protest in the State against "unit rule," as the insurgents describe the unit rule system. James W. Gerard will take part in the meeting, it is said.

The petitions being circulated for signature approving the Carnegie Hall protest express dissatisfaction with the February platform adopted by the State Committee, criticize the party leaders for refusing unqualified endorsement of the national Administration, President Wilson and the League of Nations and demand a new declaration of party principles.

There is strong demand among the insurgents for a clean cut plank and if Mr. Bryan speaks he probably will make that the issue. Whatever platform is adopted will be presented to the National Convention in opposition to the one adopted by the State conference.

Socialist Committee Presents Petition to Attorney-General.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Release of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist party's nominee for President, and all other political prisoners was asked in a petition presented to Attorney-General Palmer today by a committee appointed at the Socialist party convention in New York by Seymour Steadman, the party's vice-presidential nominee as chairman.

The committee will see Secretary Tumulty at the White House to-morrow to present a similar petition to President Wilson, and on Monday another committee named at the New York convention will call on Secretary Baker. A joint decision on the three petitions is expected.

OREGON HOOVERITES ABANDON CAMPAIGN

Will Work for League of Nations With Reservations.

Herbert Hoover received a message yesterday from his managers in Oregon stating that following his instructions they had modified the campaign they were making there.

"Subordinating our desires," it read in part, "we shall follow your wishes and stop our campaign in your behalf in the Oregon Republican primary, and will, as requested by you, devote our energy toward influencing the people of the State of Oregon to choose only delegates to the Republican National Convention who are committed to the League of Nations with Senate reservations."

Announcing their change of plans in Oregon, Chester P. Murphy and C. C. Leiter, the Hoover managers there, said: "Mr. Hoover's telegram came as a complete surprise to us and is only another evidence of his supreme fitness for President of the United States and evidence of his willingness to subordinate himself at all times to the best interests of the nation."

UNDERWOOD VICTOR BY 10,307 IN ALABAMA

Rep. Heflin First in Race for Short Term Senatorship.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, the Democratic leader, was nominated to succeed himself in the Alabama State primary election last Tuesday. Complete official returns from the sixty-seven counties to-day gave:

Underwood, 66,970; Mugrove, 56,563, and Weakley, 8,641.

There were loud cries for Oscar Underwood, and the Milwaukee Falstaff took the "I hope," he said, "that you will not conclude that I am actuated by any interior or ulterior motives. For me, I care not at all about prohibition because I make my own beer. It costs me only four cents a quart, and is better beer than any brewer ever produced. But I'm sorry this resolution came up, and I think we had better avoid fooling with the question. I make my own beer, anyway."

"That's right," yelled a delegate from Ohio; "crawl, duck, dodder, pussyfoot and shilly-shally like the other political parties. You do a hell of a lot of talking about independence and then take the dugs when you face a live, every-day issue."

After much argument the liquor resolution was tabled.

The convention adjourned last night. The delegates will start this morning for Washington, where a committee will wait upon Attorney-General Palmer. Postmaster-General Bufileson and Mr. Tumulty, the President's secretary.

BROOKLYNITES FOR HOOVER.

A Brooklyn committee for Herbert Hoover was organized yesterday. Dr. Louis C. Ayer is president, Mrs. William P. Earle, Jr., vice-president and William E. Atkinson treasurer.

On the executive committee are Frederick B. Pratt, chairman; Eugene C. Alder, George P. Allison, Herman H. Bowler, Walter Hammett, Frank C. Munson, James H. Post and Elmer A. Sperry. The headquarters are at 183 Montague street.

PAGANO MADE 4 ATTEMPTS TO KILL HIMSELF IN TOMBS.

Life holds so little charm for Antonio Pagano that within the last week he has tried four times to kill himself in the Tombs. He has attempted to hang himself, to brain himself by diving to the floor of his cell, to cut his wrist and to jump over the rail of the measuring floor of the prison. This last was yesterday.

Pagano, who lives at 165 Ludlow street, was convicted last week of adultery and sentenced to five years in Sing Sing. When the Judge learned what measures Pagano had attempted to end his life he asked Sheriff Knott to see that no time was lost in taking the prisoner up the river.
